DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This action is in response to the applicant's amendment received on 05 December 2009. Claims 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, and 12 are canceled. Claims 5 and 7 are withdrawn from consideration. The amendments made to the claims do not place the application in condition for allowance for the reasons set forth below.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 3, 9, and 11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1, 3, 9, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kamiya et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,192,301) in view of Kensey et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,676,689).

Kamiya discloses a locator device (see entire document) comprising an elongate member (22) having a distal [first] opening (portion of 27 adjacent lumen 24) in its distal region (which is considered a point just proximal to the distal opening to the distal end of the elongate member) and a proximal [second] opening (not shown in Figures, but proximal end of lumen in which the guidewire is removed or pushing wire 23 is inserted) in its proximal region (which is considered a point just proximal to the distal opening to the proximal end of the elongate member) connected by a lumen (24), and an expandable occlusion member (21) in contact with the lumen of the elongate member and located distally of the distal opening of the elongate member (for example, see Figure 27), wherein the occlusion member is releasably coupled to the elongate member (via pushing wire 23), and wherein the elongate member and occlusion member are capable of performing the functions as claimed. Furthermore, if blood were to flow through the lumen and exit through the proximal [second] opening, it would be visible outside of the patient's body. Kamiya discloses the occlusion member may comprise a polymer material, but fails to disclose the polymer material is bioabsorbable.

Kensey discloses an expandable occlusion device (see entire document). Kensey teaches the device may comprise bioabsorbable polymers such that the entire occlusion device can be left in place within the body until it is absorbed (for example, see column 13, lines 44-46). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form Kamiya's expandable occlusion member of bioabsorbable material, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of design choice.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
